Acknowledgment

1. Receipt of an RCE filed 4/20/07 has been acknowledged and entered. Claims 12, 12-15, and 20. The office is withdrawing the drawing objection and rejections in view of the amendment.

Specification

2. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: Designation '24' of the drawings is not identify in the specification.

Appropriate correction is required.

Withdraw Previously Allowed Claims

3. The indicated allowability of claims 4-5, 14-16 and 18-19 is withdrawn. The delay in citation of the new grounds of rejection is regretted.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

- 4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:
 - (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3, 6-11, and 17-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rzehulka (European 0990557) in view of Weir (USPN. 4,262,923).

Rzehulka discloses all of the structural as claimed (figure 7), the system for the transportation of construction machines comprising:

The front subassembly for coupling to a tractor vehicle and a rear subassembly, wherein

The front subassembly has a first locking unit positioned on a rear end of the front assembly for joining to a first end of a construction machine or an intermediate part, and the rear subassembly has a second locking unit positioned at a front end of the rear assembly for joining to a second end of the construction machine or the intermediate part, and

The construction machine itself or intermediate part joined together with the front subassembly and the rear subassembly provides a single transportation unit.

Rzehulka lacks the teaching the front and rear subassemblies each includes a truck undercarriage with one or more axles.

Weir discloses multi-purpose over the highway trailer arrangements wherein the front and rear subassemblies (dollies) include a truck undercarriage (col 2 lines 57-64) for supporting heavy loads.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the front sub assembly (dolly) of Rzehulka as taught by Weir to include a truck undercarriage. Such a modification would provide the front sub-assembly a means to support heavy loads.

With regard to claims 3 and 6-11, Rzehulka as modified by Weir meets all of the claimed limitations.

5. Claims 4-5, 16, and 18-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rzehulka in view of Evans (USPN. 6,663,131 B2).

Rzehulka is discloses above but lacks the teaching of a self-contained units (front and rear sub-assembly) that can be raised and lowered.

Evans discloses a dolly for towing disabled trailers wherein the dolly's subassembly can be raised and lower so that the unit may be couple and/or lock with another unit.

Therefore, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the dolly of Weir as taught by Evans to include a means to raise/lower the subassembly. Such a modification would provide the subassembly with a means to be raised/lower, thus, facilitates coupling and/or lock with another unit.

With regard to claims 16 and 18-19, the examiner takes position that the word "ability" is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. Therefore, Rzehulka alone as applied to claim 16 and Rzehulka as modified by Evans for claims 18-19, meets all of the functional language limitations in the broadest sense.
